

The Village at Riverside

A stylized map of a village layout. A winding road starts from the top left, curves down and right, then loops back down and left. A central oval-shaped area contains a grid of 30 numbered plots. The plots are arranged in three columns: the left column has plots 1-9, the middle column has plots 19-10, and the right column has plots 20-30. The numbers are arranged in descending order from top to bottom in each column. Below the road, there are several brown buildings: a small square, a larger square, a tall rectangle, and a hexagon.
